The Office Has Moved

Our favorite hang-out, the way cool ESS Office (more commonly known as The Office) is no longer located in the Loading Dock, which is now exclusively the Science Venture office. The Office is now located in EOW 130.

The Return Of WECC

Dave Garrison

Unless you are a fresh (or were living in a hole) you will remember the incredible glory bestowed upon our small faculty this past spring when four fourth-years (who shall remain nameless because the size of their heads makes it hard to fit them all into a classroom all at the same time) won the prestigious Entrepreneurial Design category at the Canadian Engineering Competition. Unfortunately the national champions will not be defending their title this year leaving it up to the rest of us mortals to follow in their footsteps.

Yes, the Western Engineering Conference and Competition (WECC) is fast approaching and we need some competitors. The competition is being held February 9-13 at the University of Manitoba. Teams finishing first or second in their category at WECC are invited to compete at the nationals which will be held at the University of Toronto in March. The categories for competition are: Entrepreneurial Design, Corporate Design, Explanatory Communications, Editorial Communications and Extemporaneous Debate.

If you have any intentions of competing at WECC you must get in touch with an ESS executive no later than this Friday (January 14)! If you have any questions about the categories please come to the office and talk to someone.

NEWS FLASH

Executives from the FOX network announced today that they have expanded their demographic sights and will feature, in the next season, a prime-time soap opera aimed at engineers. The working title is Beverly Hills, 9.021 x 10^4.
Disorientation? Should be called Disorganization week, eh? Work term reports being written, books being bought, switching gears from Work (third gear) to Christmas (neutral) to SCHOOL (reverse)! Well, just when you thought you could skip first week’s classes to catch up on some sleep, here comes DISORIENTATION WEEK ‘94!

What is it?! Well this is the chance for Stream A to get to know our new first years. This week contains a ton o’ activities aimed at the whole student body, its an excellent way to get to know the people you will be spending five years of your life with! There are a wide range of activities so that there is at least one activity for every person to participate in.
