Exam Schedule

Exams have been posted on the UVic main page. You can check out your schedule at <http://www.engr.uvic.ca/~ess/documents/cal.pdf> or at the UVic main page. The Court of the Inquisition for the Autos da Pie was open from March 01 to March 05. Many faced the wrath of the Pie including Mayor Alan Lowe, 349a professor Dale Olesky, and other unfortunate souls. Over $2500 was raised for the Queen Alexandra Centre for Children's Health and the Mustard Seed Food Bank. Thank you to everyone who worked hard to make this annual event a success!

Confessions of a teenage drama Queen

Well, this year's Pub Crawl was a complete Gong Show. I can't remember any of it, and I am sure that most of you don't remember any of it either. Here is a little help for those of you who would like to know what happened. Remember, this is information from a very reliable source. At the Kegger, Matt Edwards showed off his singing, Canadian Idol style, and showed off his dancing, Monty's style. At Soprano's, Matt Edwards sang a love song to his mother, who also happens to be his sister. At Darcy's, Matt took a huge dump in the women's washroom and broke the toilet. The firefighters and the police had to come to clean up the carnage. At Lucky, Matt was caught dancing with a 300lb shemale from the women's rugby team. He giggled like the little schoolgirl he is when her moustache tickled his forehead. At Bar Vic, Matt was banned from the bar for drinking too many cement mixers (aka. blow job revenge). He said it reminded him of his father, who also happens to be his brother. At One Lounge, Matt's emotions finally got the better of him. He had the music stopped, and grabbed the microphone. All eyes were on him as he, sobbing on his knees, apologized to Chris Garand for pie-ing him at the last ESS meeting. So as you can see, the Pub Crawl was a lot of fun for all of us, especially for those that remember what happened.
